

Randy Smith Training Solutions (RSTS) - Now in India!

Moody International launched the RSTS division in Ahmedabad, India with a two day seminar on May 30th and 31st, 2008. The seminar focused on “Beyond Safety”, Leadership, Interpersonal Skills (utilizing the DiSC program), and experiential learning techniques. Several senior officials from more than fifty Indian corporations and government organizations attended while news firms held a press conference prior to the event, reporting the special occasion in the local media.

Ahmedabad was chosen as the location for the new RSTS operation due to labor intensive and high risk industries, such as petrochemical and oil & gas, concentrated in the region. Safety concerns are often an issue in these industries and RSTS specializes in helping organizations create an incident-free culture by changing people’s beliefs and behaviors.

Moody ICL Certifications Ltd (MICLCL), a fully owned subsidiary of Moody International, hosted the launch event. Sanjeev Chadha, MICLCL Managing Director, stated the company is evaluating additional acquisition opportunities and is planning to open an office in Ahmedabad. Currently, MICLCL operates out of 14 offices in India. Robert Suggs, RSTS VP of Commercial Development, commented “During the first year of operations in India, we will appoint trainers from our pool of 70 international trainers worldwide. We will initiate the recruitment process for RSTS India shortly and train these individuals at our Scotland Learning Center thus enabling them to take on assignments independently in India”.
